AS DISSATISFACTION SPREADS THRUOUT RAILROAD UNIONS

75,000 RAILROAD MEN OUTSIDE OF SHOP CRAFTS OUT ON SYMPATHY STRIKE

PREDICTED ONE MILLION MEN WILL BE IDLE WITHIN WEEK IF PARLEYS FAIL

(By United Press.)
Chicago, July 17.—Complete tie-up of the nation's railroads loomed today as dissatisfaction spread throughout the railroad union organizations.

Nearly 1,000,000 railroad employees may be idle should peace parleys scheduled for this week fail.

Union leaders struggled to hold men in line as unauthorized walk-outs increased in number. Eight thousand stationary firemen and engineers laid down their tools at 8 o'clock and joined the ranks of the striking shop men.

President E. F. Grable of the maintenance of way organization arrived in Chicago for a conference with the railroad labor board.

It was reported Grable brought a message for the board from President Harding. Grable was to make a last effort to stave off a strike of his 400,000 maintenance men.

He sought assurances from the board that his men would not be asked to do work of the employees now on strike.

Union leaders predicted Grable would be unable to hold his men. Indications were that Grable would be forced to authorize a strike at the meeting of 200 general chairmen in Detroit Thursday.

Maintenance men were reported walking out in many sections of the country without strike orders.

Clerks and station employees are out at Toledo, Ohio, Danville, Ill., and other points.

75,000 Out in Sympathy Strike

Chicago, July 17.—Seventy-five thousand workers are now on strike in sympathy with the 400,000 shop men, according to figures compiled today.

The gradual increase in the number of men who have walked out in unauthorized strikes was reported in many sections throughout the country.

The largest single group to walk out has come from the maintenance of way men. J. C. Smook, vice president of the maintenance men, declared at least 25,000 members of that organization were on strike. The strikers will be outlawed, he announced.

Added to these figures are 14,000 oilers, stationary firemen and engineers whose strikes were authorized today, and 8,000 members of the American Federation of Railroad employees, including painters, inspectors, clerks, freight handlers and other classes of unskilled labor who have walked out, a total of at least 25,000.

Conferences aimed at settlement of the strike have been discontinued by the United States railway labor board. No further meetings will be held by members of the board with union leaders or railroad executives, until some more practical concrete proposition can be presented.

Ask for Protection

Cleveland, July 17.—Residents of Linndale, where the Big Four shops are located, today applied to police to occupy the town, or to request Governor Davis to order out the Ohio national guard to preserve order there.

Feeling was said to be running high today following the killing of striking car repairer Saturday night by a negro strike breaker.

More Men Walk Out in Twin Cities

St. Paul, July 17.—More than 1,000 semi-skilled railroad workers in the Twin Cities and others in the northwest were reported to have walked out today, bringing almost a complete halt to locomotive, freight and passenger car maintenance workers.

The traffic situation in the northwest was described as most serious. The workers who left their jobs today were said by union officials to be a class of semi-skilled workers, apprentices and others who have not belonged to the brotherhood and were not affected by the strike call. There was no confirmation of the reports that a strike vote was being taken by members of the railway clerks, freight handlers and express employees in maintenance of way organizations.

TAKING TESTIMONY IN DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST STATE OF MINNESOTA

(By United Press.)
St. Paul, July 17.—Taking of testimony in a $1,000,000 damage suit against the state of Minnesota will begin today.

Citizens of North and South Dakota alleged that overflow from a drainage project of the state of Minnesota, at Lake Traverse, Traverse county, had resulted in flooding of large areas of valuable land in North and South Dakota. The suit was filed a year ago in the United States supreme court.

W. B. Douglas, St. Paul, former attorney general, was appointed by the supreme court as commissioner to take testimony in the case.

Engineers of the three states will give technical testimony tomorrow in a hearing at the capitol.

NORTHWEST STRIKE DEADLOCKED; JEWEL BARS SETTLEMENT

ROADS MOVE TO REOPEN SHOPS—HENNING ORDERS PICKETS REINFORCED

Minneapolis, July 17.—With union representatives and railroad executives practically at terms for settlement of the shophmen's strike in the northwest, R. A. Henning, chairman of the union forces, Saturday announced that B. M. Jewel, national chief, had declined to permit settlement in the northwest independent of the rest of the country.

Mr. Henning accordingly took steps to prosecute continuation of the strike by sending letters to the various locals directing them to reinforce picket lines.

Meanwhile, railroad companies in this territory, outlined plans for filling places of strikers.

One thousand stationary firemen and oilers was added to the striking forces in the twin cities today at 8 a. m. as a result of the denial of a separate northwest settlement to the shophmen, Albert Brown, union chairman for 22 northwest roads, said. Approximately 700 of the men effected are employed in Minneapolis, he estimated.

Mr. Henning, in a letter to the various locals, detailed the basis for strike settlement in the northwest, which had been prepared but was prevented from being made effective. It provided, he said, that:

All employees who had gone on strike, including foremen, would be returned to the service with their seniority rights unimpaired.

The question of contract work did not affect these railroads.

The question of the rules in dispute would be taken up again in conference with authorized representatives of the employees with the assurance by the Northern Pacific that an agreement would be reached, giving to Northern Pacific employees as good an agreement as in existence on any railroad in the northwest; virtually meaning that the question of time and one-half for Sundays and holidays work would be disposed of and that the other rules in dispute would be given careful consideration and that they could be settled in conference.

The question of wages would be taken up in conference and an adjustment could be expected above the rate established by the United States railroad labor board in its recent decision.

We had the basis for a settlement in the northwest," Mr. Henning said. "The executive committee, in the week, decided not to al-

MOVE TO SETTLE MINE STRIKE IS NOW UNDER WAY

BY A BI-PARTISAN CONFERENCE OF MINERS AND OPERATORS AND GOV'T. REP.

60 TO 70 OPERATORS SAID TO FAVOR THIS PLAN—OTHER OPERATORS COMING OVER

(By United Press.)
Washington, July 17.—A movement to settle the nation-wide mine strike in bi-partisan conference of miners and operators with the government participation, is definitely under way, it was learned officially today.

A formal proposal for such a peace meeting will be made within the week by mine leaders.

Reports to the labor department indicate that about 60 or 70 operators, representing a considerable percentage of the tonnage of the coal fields, favor this plan, which has been used in the past to settle mine disputes.

President Harding's threats to seize the mines was said to be switching other operators to support of the proposal.

With the situation throughout the country becoming more menacing each day, because of the rail and mine tieups, the federal government continued today in a desperate effort to find a solution.

President Harding, realizing that he is facing the gravest crisis of his administration, is devoting all his time to the problem.

The president early today conferred with Secretary Hoover and then Harding, Hoover and A. M. Ogle, head of the National Coal association and leader of the operators, joined in a conference.

Government Will Move Soon

Washington, July 17.—The federal government's next move to bring a prompt termination of the nation-wide coal strike, will be announced within 24 hours, Attorney General Daugherty announced at the White House today after a conference with President Harding.

He declined to reveal what the next step will be.

The critical situation facing the country because of the double menace of coal and rail strike, was thoroughly discussed by Harding with the attorney general, who presented a big file of reports from government agents all over the country. There were some indications that the government's next move in the mine tie-up would be legal action against the warring miners and operators. In this connection significance was attached to the fact that Attorney General Alger, of Pennsylvania, accompanied by Governor Sproul to a conference with the president at which the state official declared a great emergency existed, and pledged Pennsylvania's aid in any way Harding might deem necessary.

Bozeman, Mont., July 17.—Members of the National Editorial association were pulling away from Yellowstone National Park today and nearing Missoula, the convention city.

Convention sessions will start Wednesday at Missoula. The convention is set to last three days when the publishers will start their return trip via Glacier National Park.

Stops here and at Helena and Butte were between the Yellowstone tour and Missoula. At each stop elaborate entertainment of the tourists was planned.

About the only disappointment faced so far in the program is the fact that President Harding will be unable to greet the editors of Missoula. The chief executive has been prevented from leaving Washington because of the coal strike.

Damage from the tornado was estimated today as more than $30,000. The church building was completely wrecked, and was valued at $10,000. The storm cut a path nearly a mile long and six hundred feet wide.

ST. PAUL POLICE CAPTURE 2 OF FIVE SHOTGUN BANDITS

WHO HAVE BEEN TERRORIZING THE TWIN CITIES FOR THE LAST TWO MONTHS

OPERATED WITH SAWED OFF SHOTGUNS—HAVE COMMITTED MANY ROBBERIES

(By United Press.)
St. Paul, July 15.—Police early today captured two of five shotgun bandits who have terrorized the Twin Cities for the last two months.

Patrolman Ethan Allen shot and seriously wounded John C. Ryan of Kansas City in a gun battle at the Park theatre.

Roy Freeman, alias Frank Miller, was captured by a police gun squad as he was running away from the place.

A third member of the gang was wounded, police learned. They trailed him to a house on Inglehart avenue and found blood stains on the floor and a vest with two buck shot holes in it. The man fled with his wife. Police say they know who he is.

Patrolman Allen said he knew he shot Ryan, but did not think he had wounded any of the others.

Chief of Police Frank W. Sommers said he was certain of the names of the remainder of the bandit gang, and expected to capture them. The quintette believed by police to be the first gang in the United States to adopt the sawed off shotgun as a weapon.

In each of more than a dozen hold-ups in St. Paul and Minneapolis in the last six weeks, the gang used the sawed off shotguns. Police estimated the loot of the gang at this time has amounted to between $30,000 and $50,000.

Among the robberies were six theatres, Montgomery-Ward, Fleischman Yeast company, Standard Oil company warehouse, Standard Oil company offices, and two filling stations.

Police feel certain the gang is the same one that held up three men and a girl at the Standard Oil company office Sunday and escaped with $2,000 in cash.

Following an attempt by the gang to rob the Park theatre three weeks ago, Chief of Police Sommers stationed a patrolman in the theatre to watch for a second attempt.

Patrolman Ethan Allen was in the theatre just at daybreak today when the bandits cut a hole in the glass door and unlocked it.

As the first man, Ryan, stepped through the door, Allen shouted "hands up!" Ryan fired at him and ran. The shot missed. Allen followed him to the sidewalk and fired twice, the second shot breaking Ryan's leg just below the hip. Allen said one man went east and the other two west.

One of the police gun squad, including Detectives Putnam, Smith, Schultz and Meyers, happened along and saw a man run between houses nearby carrying a shotgun and a revolver. They captured him after a short fight. He proved to be Roy Freeman, alias Frank Miller. Ryan, lying on the sidewalk, was covered by Allen when he tried to get to his revolver.

"Well, finish me," said Ryan. He maintained his name was Ted Moran. Police said he was positively identified as Ryan, however, and said he came here from Kansas City three months ago.

Frazier Much Wanted

St. Paul, July 17.—Oliver J. Frazier, who killed himself with a bullet he intended for Detective Neil McMahon, was wanted in St. Louis as an embezzler, and in Omaha as a forger, police said today.

Frazier was being sought by police for St. Louis officials on charges of embezzling $32,000 from the Commonwealth corporation of New York, for whom he was St. Louis agent.

Saturday night Detective McMahon and a Pinkerton agent, found Frazier. As they stepped from the automobile, Frazier pulled a gun. McMahon leaped on his back. Frazier twisted the gun back in an attempt to fire under his arm. The bullet penetrated his body through the heart, and killed him instantly. It passed on into McMahon's body, wounding him slightly.

Mrs. Frazier said that she will take her husband's body to bury it beside that of his mother at Clifton Hills.

Other Members Arrested

St. Paul, July 17.—Minneapolis police arrested two men shortly after the Standard Oil robbery last night, who are believed to be members of the same gang.

Mark Clover when arrested had $1,000 in his pockets. His roommate, Dan Powell, was also arrested later. Police believe the man wounded in the gun fight at the Park theatre is hiding with Ryan's wife at a Minneapolis hotel. They expected to apprehend him today.

BOOZE RING OF FORMER FEDERAL OFFICIALS FOUND

REVENUE AGENTS WILL SEEK INDICTMENTS OF 50, INCLUDING SOME MILLIONAIRES

(By United Press.)
Chicago, July 17.—Internal revenue agents will today seek indictments of more than 50 men, including millionaires, members of congress, and former federal officials in connection with the $2,000,000 booze ring unearthed here, federal agents declared.

Evidence obtained when Harry Mager, former collector of internal revenue, and Benjamin Mitchell, were arrested, will be presented to the federal grand jury.

Sensational evidence of wholesale corruption of prohibition officials would be presented, agents said.

Two prohibition officers are reported to have been on the payroll of certain breweries with salaries close to $100,000.

"Men on every floor of the federal building will be implicated," an agent said. Most of the men sought have been out of office for months, federal officials declared.

Switch Foreman Pushes Drunken Man Into River When Attacked

(By United Press.)
Minneapolis, July 17.—Charles Layton, Great Northern switch foreman, was held without charge today while police dragged the river for the body of Harry G. Swanson.

Layton told police that Swanson attacked him on an engine as the train was moving across the West Island Mississippi bridge and that he pushed Swanson off the engine to protect himself. Swanson was intoxicated, he said, and reeled off the bridge, falling 50 feet to the water. Swanson was seen swimming about 20 feet from shore but it is believed he drowned.

Goes to New Parish

Williston, N. D., July 17.—J. Prince Beason, Jr., pastor of the English Lutheran churches here and at Spring Brook, leaves this week for his new parish in Seattle, Wash. Mr. Beason has promoted the boy scout work here and leaves only because in Seattle he can complete his theological course at the seminary there, an opportunity not offered in Williston.

Minneapolis, July 17.—Patrolman Oscar Peterson shot and killed himself today when he saw another officer had been sent out to check his actions on the beat.

FIGHT BREAKS WHEN DEPUTIES TRY HALT MARCH OF MINERS

DEAD INCLUDE SHERIFF OF DUVAL AND SEVERAL DEPUTY SHERIFFS

ACTING SHERIFF APPOINTED—MANY NEW DEPUTIES ARE SWORN IN

(By United Press.)
Wellburg, W. Va., July 17.—Thirteen were killed and 25 injured in a clash between striking miners and authorities at the Richland Coal company's mine here early today, according to reports received here.

The dead included Sheriff H. H. Duval of Crooks county and several deputies.

The fight broke out when the sheriff and his men attempted to halt the march of the strikers who are alleged to have burned down a coal tippie and several houses in Cliftondale.

Governor E. F. Morgan ordered Sheriff Harry T. Crowe, of Ohio county, to take charge of the situation. Crowe immediately left for the scene, located about two miles from here, with 30 deputies.

George B. Caldwell of Wellburg was appointed temporary sheriff by District Attorney Wilkin.

The dead are being brought to Wellburg, according to local police.

BELIEVED HIRED ASSASSIN KILLED WAGNER WITH AXE

(By United Press.)
Austin, Minn., July 17.—Mower county authorities today are working on the theory that a hired assassin killed John Wagner and brutally assaulted his wife with an axe.

Mrs. Wagner was reported improved at her home in Grand Meadow today, and she was being closely observed in the hope that she might recover sufficiently to give some word regarding the assault. It was hoped that she might recover, although she suffered five deep wounds in her head from the axe.

Blood hounds that paid no attention to August Detloff, son-in-law of the aged couple, were greatly excited when they scented his automobile. They had followed a trail from the Wagner home to a vacant lot where an automobile was used by the assassin.

While authorities believe that Detloff is innocent of the actual assault, he is being held without charge. County Attorney Baudler is working on the theory that the murderer may have been a passenger in Detloff's car.

The inquest was to be resumed today but County Attorney Baudler was expected to ask a continuance in the hope that Mrs. Wagner may recover and be able to testify. Wagner was buried Sunday with services at the German Lutheran church at Grand Meadow.

Mrs. Wagner Regains Reason

Grand Meadow, July 17.—Mrs. John Wagner, 69, unconscious for ten days from the blows of a murderous axe, does not know who wielded it.

Asked what struck her when she regained consciousness for the first time at noon today, Mrs. Wagner said: "I don't know."

Her first words upon regaining consciousness were: "I am hungry."

Then she relapsed into a coma. Dr. J. L. Mitchell and a relative, Melvin Sorum, said there was hope that she would recover and they believed that as soon as her mind clears she may be able to shed some light on who invaded her home on July 6th and killed her wealthy husband with an axe and attempted to murder her.

August Detloff, a son-in-law, has been held without charge since the crime was discovered.

The coroner's jury, scheduled to meet again in Austin today, was told to meet Wednesday.

ST. PAUL POLICE CAPTURE 2 OF FIVE SHOTGUN BANDITS

WHO HAVE BEEN TERRORIZING THE TWIN CITIES FOR THE LAST TWO MONTHS

OPERATED WITH SAWED OFF SHOTGUNS—HAVE COMMITTED MANY ROBBERIES

(By United Press.) St. Paul, July 15.—Police early today captured two of five shotgun bandits who have terrorized the Twin Cities for the last two months.

Patrolman Ethan Allen shot and seriously wounded John C. Ryan of Kansas City in a gun battle at the Park theatre.

Roy Freeman, alias Frank Miller, was captured by a police gun squad as he was running away from the place.

A third member of the gang was wounded, police learned. They trailed him to a house on Inglehart avenue and found blood stains on the floor and a vest with two buck shot holes in it. The man fled with his wife. Police say they know who he is.

Patrolman Allen said he knew he shot Ryan, but did not think he had wounded any of the others.

Chief of Police Frank W. Sommers said he was certain of the names of the remainder of the bandit gang, and expected to capture them. The quintette believed by police to be the first gang in the United States to adopt the sawed off shotgun as a weapon.

In each of more than a dozen hold-ups in St. Paul and Minneapolis in the last six weeks, the gang used the sawed off shotguns. Police estimated the loot of the gang at this time has amounted to between $30,000 and $50,000.

Among the robberies were six theatres, Montgomery-Ward, Fleischman Yeast company, Standard Oil company warehouse, Standard Oil company offices, and two filling stations.

Police feel certain the gang is the same one that held up three men and a girl at the Standard Oil company office Sunday and escaped with $2,000 in cash.

Following an attempt by the gang to rob the Park theatre three weeks ago, Chief of Police Sommers stationed a patrolman in the theatre to watch for a second attempt.

Patrolman Ethan Allen was in the theatre just at daybreak today when the bandits cut a hole in the glass door and unlocked it.

As the first man, Ryan, stepped through the door, Allen shouted "hands up!" Ryan fired at him and ran. The shot missed. Allen followed him to the sidewalk and fired twice, the second shot breaking Ryan's leg just below the hip. Allen said one man went east and the other two west.

One of the police gun squad, including Detectives Putnam, Smith, Schultz and Meyers, happened along and saw a man run between houses nearby carrying a shotgun and a revolver. They captured him after a short fight. He proved to be Roy Freeman, alias Frank Miller. Ryan, lying on the sidewalk, was covered by Allen when he tried to get to his revolver.

"Well, finish me," said Ryan. He maintained his name was Ted Moran. Police said he was positively identified as Ryan, however, and said he came here from Kansas City three months ago.

Frazier Much Wanted

St. Paul, July 17.—Oliver J. Frazier, who killed himself with a bullet he intended for Detective Neil McMahon, was wanted in St. Louis as an embezzler, and in Omaha as a forger, police said today.

Frazier was being sought by police for St. Louis officials on charges of embezzling $32,000 from the Commonwealth corporation of New York, for whom he was St. Louis agent. Saturday night Detective McMahon and a Pinkerton agent, found Frazier. As they stepped from the automobile, Frazier pulled a gun. McMahon leaped on his back. Frazier twisted the gun back in an attempt to fire under his arm. The bullet penetrated his body through the heart, and killed him instantly. It passed on into McMahon's body, wounding him slightly.

Mrs. Frazier said that she will take her husband's body to bury it beside that of his mother at Clifton Hills.

Other Members Arrested

St. Paul, July 17.—Minneapolis police arrested two men shortly after the Standard Oil robbery last night, who are believed to be members of the same gang.

Mark Clover when arrested had $1,000 in his pockets. His roommate, Dan Powell, was also arrested later. Police believe the man wounded in the gun fight at the Park theatre is hiding with Ryan's wife at a Minneapolis hotel. They expected to apprehend him today.

BOOZE RING OF FORMER FEDERAL OFFICIALS FOUND

REVENUE AGENTS WILL SEEK INDICTMENTS OF 50, INCLUDING SOME MILLIONAIRES

(By United Press.) Chicago, July 17.—Internal revenue agents will today seek indictment of more than 50 men, including millionaires, members of congress, and former federal officials in connection with the $2,000,000 booze ring unearthed here, federal agents declared.

Evidence obtained when Harry Mager, former collector of internal revenue, and Benjamin Mitchell, were arrested, will be presented to the federal grand jury.

Sensational evidence of wholesale corruption of prohibition officials would be presented, agents said. Two prohibition officers are reported to have been on the payroll of certain breweries with salaries close to $100,000.

"Men on every floor of the federal building will be implicated" an agent said. Most of the men sought have been out of office for months, federal officials declared.

Switch Foreman Pushes Drunken Man Into River When Attacked

(By United Press.) Minneapolis, July 17.—Charles Layton, Great Northern switch foreman, was held without charge today while police dragged the river for the body of Harry G. Swanson.

Layton told police that Swanson attacked him on an engine as the train was moving across the West Island Mississippi bridge and that he pushed Swanson off the engine to protect himself. Swanson was intoxicated, he said, and reeled off the bridge, falling 50 feet to the water. Swanson was seen swimming about 20 feet from shore but it is believed he drowned.

Goes to New Parish

Williston, N. D., July 17.—J. Prince Beason, Jr., pastor of the English Lutheran churches here and at Spring Brook, leaves this week for his new parish in Seattle, Wash. Mr. Beason has promoted the boy scout work here and leaves only because in Seattle he can complete his theological course at the seminary there, an opportunity not offered in Williston.

POLICEMAN SUICIDES WHEN BEING WATCHED

(By United Press.) Minneapolis, July 17.—Patrolman Oscar Peterson shot and killed himself today when he saw another officer had been sent out to check his actions on the beat.

FIGHT BREAKS WHEN DEPUTIES TRY HALT MARCH OF MINERS

DEAD INCLUDE SHERIFF OF DUVAL AND SEVERAL DEPUTY SHERIFFS

ACTING SHERIFF APPOINTED—MANY NEW DEPUTIES ARE SWORN IN

(By United Press.) Wellsburg, W. Va., July 17.—Thirteen were killed and 25 injured in a clash between striking miners and authorities at the Richland Coal company's mine here early today, according to reports received here.

The dead included Sheriff H. H. Duval of Crooks county and several deputies.

The fight broke out when the sheriff and his men attempted to halt the march of the strikers who are alleged to have burned down a coal tiple and several houses in Cliftondale.

Governor E. F. Morgan ordered Sheriff Harry T. Crowe, of Ohio county, to take charge of the situation. Crowe immediately left for the scene, located about two miles from here, with 30 deputies.

George B. Caldwell of Wellsburg was appointed temporary sheriff by District Attorney Wilkin.

The dead are being brought to Wellsburg, according to local police.

BELIEVED HIRED ASSASSIN KILLED WAGNER WITH AXE

(By United Press.) Austin, Minn., July 17.—Mower county authorities today are working on the theory that a hired assassin killed John Wagner and brutally assaulted his wife with an axe.

Mrs. Wagner was reported improved at her home in Grand Meadow today, and she was being closely observed in the hope that she might recover sufficiently to give some word regarding the assault. It was hoped that she might recover, although she suffered five deep wounds in her head from the axe.

Blood hounds that paid no attention to August Detlof, son-in-law of the aged couple, were greatly excited when they scented his automobile. They had followed a trail from the Wagner home to a vacant lot where an automobile was used by the assassin.

While authorities believe that Detlof is innocent of the actual assault, he is being held without charge. County Attorney Baudler is working on the theory that the murderer may have been a passenger in Detlof's car.

The inquest was to be resumed today but County Attorney Baudler was expected to ask a continuance in the hope that Mrs. Wagner may recover and be able to testify. Wagner was buried Sunday with services at the German Lutheran church at Grand Meadow.

Mrs. Wagner Regains Reason

Grand Meadow, July 17.—Mrs. John Wagner, 69, unconscious for ten days from the blows of a murderous axe, does not know who wielded it.

Asked what struck her when she regained consciousness for the first time at noon today, Mrs. Wagner said: "I don't know."

Her first words upon regaining consciousness were: "I am hungry." Then she relapsed into a coma. Dr. J. L. Mitchell and a relative, Melvin Sorum, said there was hope that she would recover and they believed that as soon as her mind clears she may be able to shed some light on who invaded her home on July 6th and killed her wealthy husband with an axe and attempted to murder her.

August Detlof, a son-in-law, has been held without charge since the crime was discovered.

The coroner's jury, scheduled to meet again in Austin today, was told to meet Wednesday.

THEN SHE AROSE SUDDENLY

Elderly Lady Discovered She Had Made Wrong Choice of Her Resting Position.

It is hard sometimes for the old and the young to arrive at a common point of understanding. The old lady and the Sunday school boy in this story did finally arrive at an understanding, but not until the boy had suffered damage to his feelings, if not to his possessions.

A picnic was in progress, and the benevolent and elderly lady took much enjoyment in witnessing the delight of the children who were sporting themselves in her grounds.

She went from one to another, saying a few kind words to each. Presently she seated herself on a grass plot beside Dickie, a little boy with golden curls and an angelic expression. But as soon as he observed her sitting beside him Dickie set up an ear-piercing howl.

"Have you the stomach-ache?" she asked, anxiously.

"No, I ain't," snapped Dickie.

"Perhaps you would like some more cake."

"No!" roared the angelic child.

"What I want is my frog that I ketcht."

"Frog?"

"Yes, my frog! You're sitting on him!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

IN THE LAND OF ROMANCE

Commonplace Couple Only Joking When They Compared Their Different Preferences.

They were sitting in the half-darkness of the picture theater, holding hands. They were very small, pale, and insignificant. He was "something in the city," she was the same thing in the female "line."

The stirring drama upon the screen was "The Queen and the Duke."

"Ain't he a wonderful man?" applauded the girl. "I could die for a man like that—a tall, dark, handsome man, the kind that is born to rule. I don't see how she can resist him!"

Then he had his say:

"Ain't she a wonderful queen? That's the sort I like—the tall, stately woman that can look over her like a worm and go trailing them silk robes round and granting her favors with a cold, proud smile upon her beautiful lips."

"Really, Jack?"

"No, Sue; I was only joking!"

And they held each other's hands a little tighter, and the screen lost its interest for at least two more in the crowded picture house.

Unknown Australia.

A motoring expedition which will occupy months and cover ground hitherto untraversed without the aid of camels and donkeys is being undertaken from Adelaide for Darwin, returning through the bush country of Queensland, New South Wales, and Victoria, approximately 8,000 miles.

The party includes Mr. McCallum, a state legislator and authority on pastoral stock, who is financing the trip and will report to the federal government on the possibilities of settlement and development of the interior by whites, also on the benefits of a transcontinental line. Captain White, a noted ornithologist, will collect birds in connection with the Australian check list which has occupied scientists for years and will be completed in October.—London Times Weekly.

Burmese Story of Man's Origin.

A myth current among the Burmese says that heavenly beings came down from the skies to the earth, and there ate Thalesan, a particular kind of rich rice, which gradually made them gross of habit, so that they were unable to make their way back to the higher heavens again and had to become men and women.

The Chins have a story of the Tower of Babel to account for the various clans that inhabit the range of hills looking down on the Bay of Bengal, and traditions of a deluge are found everywhere.

The Kachins tell a story of the passage over a bridge, to the afterlife, and there are many more of the kind that suggest these folk-myths come down from a long-gone past.

To Tell Time Elsewhere.

For the convenience to know the time in other leading cities of the world as compared with New York time, a new desk clock has been placed on the market. This comprises an attractive brass front in the center of which is a small clock, says the New York Times. Surrounding the clock is a dial. This is marked with lines on which are placed the names of the various important cities. By turning the dial to the current time in New York the hour at San Francisco, London, Paris, Petrograd, Rio de Janeiro, Tokyo and other cities may be ascertained. The dial is marked with a dark portion, representing the night hours, and the entire face is easily read.

Increasing World's Food Supply.

Col. R. J. Sturdy, who was chief veterinary surgeon of the British armies during the war, has taken to the pastoral life now—but on a very large scale. He is raising sheep and cattle on the high pampas of southern Peru, under the aegis of the Peruvian government and the Peruvian corporation. His experimental and survey work he finds absorbing, and he expresses the opinion that some day this region will become one of the richest grazing territories in the world through expert breeding of the country's valuable native wool-bearing animals, the vicuna and guanaco.

Jury System.

They say the jury system is the last word in justice, but what chance would a fellow have with a jury like this: No. 1—His tenant. No. 2—His landlord. No. 3—His iceman. No. 4—His plumber. No. 5—His coal dealer. No. 6—His borrowee. No. 7—His bank cashier. No. 8—His mother-in-law. No. 9—His dentist. No. 10—His first wife. No. 11—His second wife. No. 12—His present wife's former husband.—Henry E. Warner in Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Two fires which started on Friday evening about 9 o'clock, and which might have become serious, were quickly extinguished by the timely arrival of a few of the firemen. One was in the platform of the building of the Brainerd Grocery Co. and was put out by the use of a small chemical container; the other was behind Percy's Hardware store where some oiled rags had taken fire and ignited two crates. The firemen took a rake and pulled the crates back from the building into the alley.

THEN SHE AROSE SUDDENLY

Elderly Lady Discovered She Had Made Wrong Choice of Her Resting Position.

It is hard sometimes for the old and the young to arrive at a common point of understanding. The old lady and the Sunday school boy in this story did finally arrive at an understanding, but not until the boy had suffered damage to his feelings, if not to his possessions.

A picnic was in progress, and the benevolent and elderly lady took much enjoyment in witnessing the delight of the children who were sporting themselves in her grounds.

She went from one to another, saying a few kind words to each. Presently she seated herself on a grass plot beside Dickie, a little boy with golden curls and an angelic expression. But as soon as he observed her sitting beside him Dickie set up an ear-piercing howl.

"Have you the stomach-ache?" she asked, anxiously.

"No, I ain't," snapped Dickie.

"Perhaps you would like some more cake."

"No!" roared the angelic child.

"What I want is my frog that I ketcht."

"Frog?"

"Yes, my frog! You're sitting on him!"—Philadelphia Ledger.

IN THE LAND OF ROMANCE

Commonplace Couple Only Joking When They Compared Their Different Preferences.

They were sitting in the half-darkness of the picture theater, holding hands. They were very small, pale, and insignificant. He was "something in the city," she was the same thing in the female "type."

The stirring drama upon the screen was "The Queen and the Duke."

"Ain't he a wonderful man?" applauded the girl. "I could die for a man like that—a tall, dark, handsome man, the kind that is born to rule. I don't see how she can resist him!"

Then he had his say:

"Ain't she a wonderful queen?"

That's the sort I like—the tall, stately woman that can look you over like a woman and go trailing them silk robes round and granting her favors with a cold, proud smile upon her beautiful lips.

"Really, Jack!"

"No, Sue; I was only joking!"

And they held each other's hands a little tighter, and the screen lost its interest for at least two more in the crowded picture house.

To Tell Time Elsewhere.

For the convenience to know the time in other leading cities of the world as compared with New York time, a new desk clock has been placed on the market. This comprises an attractive brass front in the center of which is a small clock, says the New York Times. Surrounding the clock is a dial. This is marked with lines on which are placed the names of the various important cities. By turning the dial to the current time in New York the hour at San Francisco, London, Paris, Petrograd, Rio de Janeiro, Tokyo and other cities may be ascertained. The dial is marked with a dark portion, representing the night hours, and the entire face is easily read.

Increasing World's Food Supply.

He is raising sheep and cattle on the high pampas of southern Peru, under the aegis of the Peruvian government and the Peruvian corporation. His experimental and survey work he finds absorbing, and he expresses the opinion that some day this region will become one of the richest grazing territories in the world through expert breeding of the country's valuable native wool-bearing animals, the vicuna and guanaco.

low us an independent northwest settlement. I got word from Mr. Jewell over the phone from Chicago that the national settlement had failed and that we could not be allowed to go ahead on the divisional basis."

Letter Sent 1,500 Union Leaders

The information was conveyed to 1,500 union leaders throughout the northwest in a letter sent out by Mr. Henning.

Railroads plan to act by going out in the market to get men to fill in a "king shopmen's jobs, executives have announced. The Northern Pacific and the Great Northern, last of the northwest roads to demand that shopmen return to work or forfeit their seniority rights, issued ultimatums effective Tuesday.

"The conferences of the past week between the representatives of the shopcrafts and the management have made it clear that there are no differences between the management and our former employees which cannot be adjusted easily," J. M. Rapelje, vice-president in charge of operation of the Northern Pacific, said in a statement to the striking shopmen today. "The management has avoided employing new men, or fixing any definite date on which seniority rights would expire. The time has now arrived when this action can no longer be deferred."

Henning Blames Certain Roads

"To remain away from work longer is clearly in the hope that thereby our employees on strike will benefit not themselves, but railway employees elsewhere, presumably less fortunately situated," C. O. Jenks, vice-president in charge of operation of the Great Northern, said in the ultimatum issued by that road.

Failure of the Chicago conference was due to the unwillingness of certain roads to take back all the striking employees, Mr. Henning said.

"If they had agreed to take back all the men, restoring their seniority rights, we could have gone ahead to settle here," he said.

Negotiations Explained

Explanation of the negotiations which led to the possibility of a northwest settlement was made in the statement sent to members of the shopmen's union by Mr. Henning Saturday night.

"On July 10 the Northern Pacific general chairman conducted conferences with J. M. Rapelje, vice-president, and other officials of the roads," the letter said. "At these conferences the officials made certain efforts trying to bring about a settlement of the strike on the Northern Pacific railroad. This conference finally resulted in going to the office of President Charles Donnelly, Northern Pacific, and later President Ralph Budd of the Great Northern entered the conference and the strike situation was thoroughly discussed, with the result that the railroad executives made to the chairman of the Northern Pacific shopmen certain proposals along which lines the strike could be settled."

Their propositions there were set forth in the statement.

Mrs. Julia Gebel and the revolver with which she held a mob of strikers away from her home in Chicago after her husband, a loyal worker in the Illinois Central shops, declared that he would stick to his job. "My husband isn't a scab," Mrs. Gebel said. "He has been working in the Illinois Central shops for twenty-eight years and he's worked every day of his life except when he was sick."

Why Farming Should Pay.

The National City bank, of New York, after analyzing the census figures for 1920, declares that for the first time in the history of our country there are more people working in factories than on farms. Fifty years ago there were more than twice as many country workers as city workers. This not only means that the farmer has a bigger market for his product, but that he is a greater buyer of manufactured goods, because an increasingly large proportion of the factory hands are making things for the comfort and convenience of people in the country. If we forget the year or two of hard times, now happily passing, we can see that farming is not a crowded business, and we can be sure that it will be generally prosperous in the future. The man who gets discouraged now and leaves the farm because he thinks farming "doesn't pay" is making a mistake. —Farm Life.

OLD STORY MERELY LEGEND

Nothing to Support Belief That Belisarius Was Reduced to Beggary in Old Age.

Belisarius was the chief military commander of the Emperor Justinian, and probably one of the greatest generals of history. He was born in 505 and died in 565, spending, in his lifetime, nearly forty years in military service. His soldierly skill renewed for a time the ancient military glory of Rome, and he earned the title of "The Africanus of New Rome." His career as a general is divided into two epochs, the war against the Vandals and that against the Goths. In both wars he was so successful that he was given a triumphal entry into the city of Constantinople—the then Roman capital—the first that had graced that city, and the first in any part of the empire since the days of Tiberius.

Like many another favorite of a great ruler, Belisarius was finally the victim of false accusation of conspiracy, and was degraded and reduced to poverty. Around his last years many legends arose. The best known of these is that he wandered, blind and destitute, from door to door, asking alms and crying "Date obolum Belisario" ("A penny for General Belisarius"). His sufferings have been the subject of numerous literary, artistic and musical compositions that have kept alive this story, which is entirely without foundation.

MUSIC THE BEST OF TONICS

Nothing in the Way of Medicine Can So Effectually Cure a Nervous Breakdown.

A well-known doctor says there is but little use in taking so-called "tonics" for a "run-down" or nervous condition. When one has been overworked there is nothing better for this than music. In music we have one of the finest tonics in the world, and, skillfully applied, it has been known to work wonders with those suffering from nervous disorders.

Even the performances given by amateur societies have been known to benefit jaded nerves, but the best results are obtained from high-class instrumental music played by those who have a wide knowledge of tone values.

If you are musically inclined, don't imagine because you feel "fagged out" after a day's work that an hour or two at the piano is going to be too much "fag."

As often as not you will find that you will be materially benefited, not so much, perhaps, because you have been playing particularly restful music, but because the mind has been brought into direct contact with a diversion.

So if you are feeling depressed and your nerves jaded, remember that one of the surest ways of making yourself fit again is to go and hear some good music. There is plenty of it about today, and the price of admission is surely worth a week of sleepless nights.

The conferences of the past week between the representatives of the shop crafts and the management have made it clear that there are no differences between the management and our former employees which cannot be adjusted easily. An indispensable condition of such adjustment, however, is that employees shall resume work on the basis fixed by the Labor Board in its recent decision. Desiring to protect former employees in their seniority and pension rights the management has avoided employing new men, or the fixing of any definite date on which those rights would expire. The time has now arrived when this action can no longer be deferred. Former employees who left the service of the company on and after July 1, 1922, and who return to work by ten o'clock in the forenoon of Tuesday, July 18, 1922, will retain their seniority and pension rights. Those who apply after that hour, if accepted, will rank as new employees.

Apply at nearest shop or at division superintendent's office or at Northern Pacific Employment Office in St. Paul, Minn.

The conferences of the past week between the representatives of the shop crafts and the management have made it clear that there are no differences between the management and our former employees which cannot be adjusted easily. An indispensable condition of such adjustment, however, is that employees shall resume work on the basis fixed by the Labor Board in its recent decision. Desiring to protect former employees in their seniority and pension rights the management has avoided employing new men, or the fixing of any definite date on which those rights would expire. The time has now arrived when this action can no longer be deferred. Former employees who left the service of the company on and after July 1, 1922, and who return to work by ten o'clock in the forenoon of Tuesday, July 18, 1922, will retain their seniority and pension rights. Those who apply after that hour, if accepted, will rank as new employees.

WORK OF CONGRESS HAMPERED

It is untrue that the present Congress has accomplished nothing. The fact is that it has really accomplished much. Voters, however, are beginning to understand that one reason why Congress has not accomplished more is that the Democrats have persistently obstructed and delayed all Republican legislation.

Everybody knows that this administration inherited the results of eight years of riotous waste under the Wilson regime, that private business as a result of the policies of the Democratic administration was in worse shape than it had been for half a century, that hard times prevailed, farmers faced bankruptcy, five million industrial workers walked the streets, commerce was demoralized and business lived from hand to mouth.

When the present administration came in it did not attempt by legislation to supply all the needs of every industry. On the contrary it adopted the policy of "less government in business and more business in government," assuring every individual and every concern that they would have the encouragement rather than the restraint of the government in their efforts to restore normal business conditions.

Not by any legislative heroics nor by turning from one fit of hysteria to another, but by careful, well-considered policies the Republicans turned the nation from industrial depression to a gradual and continued upward movement. These policies made rapid transformation in the industrial world with the result that the nation in every line of enterprise is now on the upgrade and there is confidence everywhere as to the future.

These are facts which need not be taken on the assertion of any one person. Every business man knows them to be true. Every person who reads the daily newspaper reports of Congressional debates also knows that Democratic politicians have been endeavoring by every possible petty means to hamper the Republicans in their reconstruction efforts. That being true, any failure of accomplishment cannot do other than reflect discredit of the Democratic party and emphasize the accomplishments which the Republicans have attained in the face of such bitter opposition.

SUMMER TOURIST TRADE RAPIDLY INCREASING

The number of summer tourists visiting Brainerd is multiplying daily. All are headed either for the many summer resorts in this vicinity, or are en route for the northern part of the state. Without exception, however, they all stop in Brainerd for meals or supplies. This brings much business to Brainerd, and it is rapidly increasing.

It is confidently predicted by Ivan Coppe, secretary of the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association, which for the past six years has catered to and assisted the tourists in enjoying Minnesota's unsurpassed summer playground places, that Minnesota will have 500,000 tourist visitors this summer. This prediction is based on figures gathered by the association for each summer season since 1916. These figures are compiled every fall, when the season closes, from the hotel registers of the hundreds of Minnesota resorts which entertain the summer tourists. The registers are provided in the spring by the association. Reports of highway association, covering travel over the numerous main roads of the state, are also scanned in preparing the season estimate of visitors.

Mr. Coppe points out that the report for the last six years shows the 1921 tourist "crop" to be nearly twenty-five times as great as that of 1916. The biggest increase is shown between 1918 and 1919, when, with the war ended, many people took their first vacation in many years—and came to Minnesota. The estimated number of visitors in 1917 was 17,000 persons, in 1918 it reached 40,000, in 1919 it had leaped to 145,000, and in 1921 to over 300,000. A proportionate increase is counted upon this year, and Brainerd and Crow Wing county generally will undoubtedly get their share.

GOV. PREUS SEEKING COAL PRIORITY

GOV. PREUS has been in Washington City for several days endeavoring to secure priority orders for the shipment of coal to the Head of the Lakes in order to prevent the fuel famine which threatens the Northwest. The supplies of coal on the Duluth and Superior docks are fast approaching the vanishing stage, it is said. Several of the docks report that they are sold out in some lines of coal, and are forced to refuse even small orders.

The governor fully realizes that the situation is extremely critical. The Northwest is entitled to priority orders similar to those accorded it in the past, because of the comparatively short period this section has in which to receive its fuel supply via the lakes, and it is believed that this will be conceded.

THE American Relief administration last week reached the maximum of its famine relief program in Russia, supplying meals to 10,000,000 persons. The rationing will be gradually reduced as the harvest comes in, regardless of whether it is decided definitely to abandon the work in Russia after September.

BEFORE his departure for Washington to look after the Northwest's coal supply, Gov. Preus appointed a committee to make a survey of the state's wood supply for possible use should the fuel shortage in the Northwest be acute next winter.

ROYALTIES of iron ore this year from state-owned mines in Minnesota have amounted to more than $250,000, according to State Auditor Chase.

LOWER BROADWAY AT NIGHT

Young Folk Stroll Through World-Famous Street and It Becomes a Lover's Lane.

Summer nights have turned lower Broadway, from Trinity churchyard to the Battery, into a sort of lover's lane, the New York Sun states. Breeze-blown and dusky and half deserted, strollers find it a pleasant place. They saunter past the windows that are occasionally lighted, showing somebody working late at a high desk over a big book, or hammering the keyboard of a typewriter.

They pass up and down, going by twos and by fours as nonchalantly as though they moved through a country lane. Their faces are thrown into a high light as they pass the street arcs.

For them all Trinity churchyard has an endless fascination. Fenced out with the dark they walk along the wall; they seem to watch the grave-stones. The stones shine white at night, the high cross in the center of the plot directly in front of the new Curb market building, is somehow more prominent than any of the high stone structures that surround the arches of the church.

The only thing that shows up as white is the front wall of the Curb market. It seems to rise directly at the back of the grass plot. The tracks of the elevated trains are visible. The five curved windows that light the second story look as if they were five entrances on the ground floor.

Through the crowd of strollers through the cool streets come occasional people who are anxious to get home.

About 10 o'clock a great many children come up through the street, some running and chattering, others so sleepy that they have to be dragged along by the mothers who are getting them home after an evening down at the park. Half of the children want a drink of water when they come to the Trinity church wall. So the women stop at the fountain built as a memorial to Ann Maria Cothel Swords. The children want to play in the water, the mothers want to get them home.

So for a few hours after dark downtown Broadway seems to belong to the past, to young lovers and to romping children. They come that way every warm day and the men, who sit silently on watch in corners of buildings and in doorways are generally glad to see them come.

Electric Flypaper.

The struggles of a fly caught on a sheet of tanglefoot paper are painful to witness. Perhaps, however, the insect undergoes no worse sufferings than when poisoned.

Why not kill the flies by electricity? John H. Turpin, of Bremerton, Wash., has invented a simple little machine for the purpose. You hang it on the wall and it does the rest. Bait, of any kind suitable, attracts the insects to a slot through which it is exposed to view and smell. The slot is a narrow elongated opening between two metal plates. When a fly crawls across from one of the plates to the other, it is instantly killed and falls into a little trough beneath. This happens because the plates are attached by binding posts to a couple of copper wires which pass through an electric cord connected to an ordinary plug, which is inserted in an electric socket. —Milwaukee Sentinel.

Standards of Youth.

Bobby's father was an organizer of a calling for which Bobby, at ten years old, felt a little apologetic when having occasion to explain it to his friends. A policeman, now, or a fireman, those are professions a fellow can boast about! One day he was overheard in conversation with a neighbor's son, who asked:

"Bob, does your father play?"

"Yes," admitted Bobby, without much enthusiasm.

"Well, what does he play, the cornet?"

"No," answered Bobby, half-heartedly. "He plays the organ."

"And does he sing?" persisted the small friend.

"Goodness, no!" indignantly exclaimed the musician's son. "We wouldn't stand for that!" —Harper's Magazine.

"Bad" Indian Gone.

Tse-ne-gat has passed on to the happy hunting grounds. This leader of the Plutes on their reservation was known to the government officials as the "Bolshevik Redskin" because of his tendency to precipitate uprisings. In 1915 he was accused of killing a Mexican sheep herder, and in resisting arrest he gathered about him nearly every lawless Indian within 500 miles of Bluff, Utah, where he maintained an inaccessible stronghold, from which he successfully defied the United States marshal's posse. Tse-ne-gat is said to have cost the government about $25,000 a year. He was one of the wealthiest Indians of the reservation.

"Oh, John, do hush that awful language," exclaimed his wife—and John only said a few more things not printable. Of All Former Employees Not Returning to Work by 10 A. M. Tuesday

The following notice has been posted at the railroad shops:

"The Northern Pacific Railway company offers employment at the wages stated below to the following classes: machinists 70 cents per hour, blacksmiths 70 cents per hour, sheet metal workers 70 cents per hour, electricians 70 cents per hour, boiler makers east of Mandan, N. D., 70 cents per hour, boiler makers Mandan, N. D. and west 70 1/2 cents per hour; carmen, passenger 70 cents per hour; carmen, freight 63 cents per hour; helpers all classes 47 cents per hour; coach cleaners 37 cents per hour.

Apply to the nearest shop or at division superintendents office, or at Northern Pacific Employment office in St. Paul, Minn.

The conferences of the past week between the representatives of the shop crafts and the management have made it clear that there are no differences between the management and our former employees which cannot be adjusted easily. An indispensable condition of such adjustment, however, is that employees shall resume work on the basis fixed by the labor board in its recent decision. Desiring to protect former employees in their seniority and pension rights, the management have avoided employing new men, or the fixing of any definite date on which those rights would expire. The time has now arrived when this action can no longer be deferred. Former employees who left the service of the company on or after July 1, 1922 and who returned to work by ten o'clock in the forenoon of Tuesday, July 18, 1922, will retain their seniority and pension rights. Those who apply after that hour, if accepted, will rank as new employees.

J. M. RAPELJE.

Vice president in charge of operation.

The notice is accompanied by an explanatory circular by Mr. Curry, which is as follows:

J. P. Anderson.

Brainerd, Minn.

St. Paul, July 16th, 1922
"Mr. Donnelly, Mr. Rapelje and myself have most earnestly endeavored to protect our men's and the railway's interests. Numerous conferences have been held with Mr. Henning and his associates. Such assurances were given them as the adoption of would ultimately have restored rules and regulations long in vogue on our lines. However, as finally developed, nothing of importance was accomplished by these conferences. This company bears no antagonism toward union labor, nor never has, and has no desire whatever to disrupt the organizations. I have conferred with Mr. Rapelje and suggested the sending of this wire to you. In this he fully concurred, that it may be possible for you to advise all of your men of the management's attitude at this time, it to be most distinctly understood that Mr. Rapelje's ultimatum as to the date on which men can return to service and retain their seniority and pension rights, means exactly what it states. It does not seem to me after all that we jointly have accomplished by years of negotiations, with agreements resulting and mutual benefits derived therefrom, that our joint interests, and particularly the men's, should be sacrificed as it now appears imminent they may be in the further support of a favorable national settlement of strike troubles that every indication, particularly taking into consideration the situation at Chicago and on eastern lines, now point to as hopeless; in other words, our men should return to work and by so doing unquestionably very greatly protect their interests in comparison with continuing on strike and losing much that they have gained by years of service.

My desire is that a knowledge of the purport of this wire may influence many of our men and particularly our older men to promptly return to service.

COMING COUNTY FAIR WILL BE BEST EVER

Directors at Last Meeting Vote Money For Erection of New Grand Stand

TO MAKE OTHER IMPROVEMENTS

Will Go to the Limit to Secure Free Attractions to Entertain the Crowds

The Crow Wing county fair of 1922 will be the biggest and best fair in the history of the organization. The directors of the County fair in their meeting in May voted to erect a new grand stand and make all necessary repairs to the buildings on the fair grounds at Pequot. After the building and improvement work has been completed the equipment will be in better condition than it has ever been.

The directors decided to go the limit in securing free attractions for the entertainment of their patrons and they confidently announce that those who attend the fair at Pequot this fall will realize that the directors went the limit in providing talent to entertain the crowds.

Eleven free attractions have been secured, including acrobats, trick animals and other clever novelties, and will be offered to the public without extra charge. In addition to these exhibitions there will be a ferris wheel, merry go round, and sideshows at reasonable admission charges.

A unique mining exhibit will give pleasure to all those who are at all interested in mining, and the general public which does not know much about the technicalities of that industry will be attracted by this remarkable exhibition. Hon. E. P. Scallon of Crosby has promised to try to secure the miniature mine which was exhibited at the World's Fair in San Francisco.

Among the amusements provided are a number of unusual trained animal acts and some exceptionally clever acrobatic acts. Kent and Leon in America's foremost acrobatic comedy trick house act will be among the stars of the program.

Y. M. C. A. Satisfactory Headquarters

The Y. M. C. A. building which was utilized as Fiftieth anniversary and Home-coming headquarters proved to be entirely satisfactory.

Home-comers and old-timers generally had one of the best times in their lives in renewing old friendships and looking over the scenes of their youthful days.

The scene witnessed when hundreds of old-timers scanned the register looking for the names of old-time acquaintances, the crowded lobby of the building, and the newly decorated and freshly calomined interior of the Y. M. C. A. building, lead to the verdict that the week was a good thing for Brainerd.

All bills against the Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration committee must be in by Wednesday afternoon, July 19, 1922, as the books will be closed at that time. Bills may be left at the Citizens State bank or at the Chamber of Commerce.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE OF TEAM AND DRIVER

Plunge from Bridge Over the Mississippi Near Crosby 34 Feet Into River Below

ESCAPE WITHOUT A SCRATCH

Although the Wagon and Team Turn Complete Somersault—Driver Leaps—Is Unhurt

A team employed by Eric Olson, who has a contract on hauling gravel for culvert construction on the road north of Crosby had a miraculous escape on Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

The team was crossing the bridge over the Mississippi four miles north of Crosby when an automobile approached and frightened the horses. The driver, seeing that the horses were badly scared, waved the automobile driver to stop. The man at the wheel of the automobile did not heed the signal of the driver of the team, but kept speeding along with the result that the team made a plunge to the side of the road and went through the railing, dropping 34 feet to the level below. In going over the team turned a complete somersault and detached themselves from the gravel-loaded wagon. The driver leaped when the team was about to crash through the railing and was unhurt. Upon examination it was found that the horses, after a fall of 34 feet, were not injured perceptibly.

In going through the rail about 50 feet of it was torn away by the team and wagon. This railing at the side of the bridge is of wood, well spiked and well driven.

The driver of the automobile went right along and did not stop to see what injuries had resulted from the dreadful plunge. It is understood that that number of the car was secured and that he will be expected to meet the cost of the repairs to the railing which was injured through the rush of the horses after being frightened by the approaching machine.

Have Narrow Escape

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Woodhead and two children were fortunate on Sunday afternoon in escaping from a dangerous situation through the help of others who saw their plight and went to their relief. They had gone out for a sail on Hubert lake when a gust of wind hit the sail and overturned the boat. Mr. Woodhead grabbed the children and held them while he and Mrs. Woodhead hung on to the overturned boat. Walter F. Wieland and Charles Hoffman, who had noticed their danger, pulled out to them in a row boat and they were brought to the shore.

INTERESTING LETTER

Received From Old Time Resident of Brainerd Now Living in East

The Dispatch is in receipt of a letter from South Norwalk, Conn., dated July 11, 1922, which, while incomplete through failure to enclose the concluding page giving the name of the sender, offers interesting information about the old days when Brainerd was just beginning its history.

The letter reads: To the Brainerd Dispatch: I see by the Dispatch about the home coming week at Brainerd and have read the names of those who lived in Brainerd and now live in Brainerd who were there years ago. My father and mother were among the pioneers of Brainerd. They landed in Brainerd before there were any trains, coming there in a wagon. My father's name was John Campbell and his horses hauled lumber and sand to help build Brainerd and my dear father sleeps in the Evergreen cemetery at Brainerd, having been laid there 23 years ago. My mother is still living and is 80 years old and just came here from Brainerd three weeks ago. She can tell of many things that happened in Brainerd when Brainerd was only pines, and during the Indian outbreak. My father and mother had a family of twelve children, my youngest sister, Mrs. L. P. Gray, was born at Brainerd 42 years ago in a log cabin in a little way from where St. Francis Catholic church stands on Ninth street, but the rest of us were born at North Prairie and came to Brainerd when only small children. The first school house that was built in Brainerd, my brother-in-law helped to build, and I and my brother Dan Campbell would get on the steps as they were laying them.

The letter ends at this point unfortunately and further interesting facts about Brainerd in its early days are not to be given at this time.

Those present were Gertrude and Edna Mae Peterson, Lucile and Clara Gendron, Marvill Christian and Vira Gilmore. The occasion was her seventh birthday.

INTERESTING LETTER

Received From Old Time Resident of Brainerd Now Living in East

The Dispatch is in receipt of a letter from South Norwalk, Conn., dated July 11, 1922, which, while incomplete through failure to enclose the concluding page giving the name of the sender, offers interesting information about the old days when Brainerd was just beginning its history.

The letter reads: To the Brainerd Dispatch: I see by the Dispatch about the home coming week at Brainerd and have read the names of those who lived in Brainerd and now live in Brainerd who were there years ago. My father and mother were among the pioneers of Brainerd. They landed in Brainerd before there were any trains, coming there in a wagon. My father's name was John Campbell and his horses hauled lumber and sand to help build Brainerd and my dear father sleeps in the Evergreen cemetery at Brainerd, having been laid there 23 years ago. My mother is still living and is 80 years old and just came here from Brainerd three weeks ago. She can tell of many things that happened in Brainerd when Brainerd was only pines, and during the Indian outbreak. My father and mother had a family of twelve children, my youngest sister, Mrs. L. P. Gray, was born at Brainerd 42 years ago in a log cabin in a little way from where St. Francis Catholic church stands on Ninth street, but the rest of us were born at North Prairie and came to Brainerd when only small children. The first school house that was built in Brainerd, my brother-in-law helped to build, and I and my brother Dan Campbell would get on the steps as they were laying them.

The letter ends at this point unfortunately and further interesting facts about Brainerd in its early days are not to be given at this time.

How the "Yankee" Gripped Los Angeles

Extracts from Press Reviews which were unanimously enthusiastic following first showing in long pre-release run at Miller's Theatre.

Grace Kingsley, the Los Angeles Times reviewer, wrote:

"Hurrah for Mark Twain and for 'A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court!' Then throw in a couple of hurrahs for Emmett Flynn, director, and Harry Myers, star. For hark ye, he most brilliant comedy drama in the history of picturedom is here, and 'A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court' is it.

"The picture's on view at Miller's, and the big audiences are fairly pulling the house down.

"Make 'em laugh, make 'em cry, make 'em thrill," D. W. Griffith said once, and the Yankee does all three superlatively. Its comedy has Charlie Chaplin's brilliant aliveness and great common, human touch; it has lightning flashes of William De Mille's fine whimsy; it has moments as great as some of Griffith's own; it has touches of 'Miracle Man,' spiritual vision; and yet it is much more, for it is all Mark Twain.

"In this film Twain again lives, and, though he has gone before, has triumphed as the greatest picture story writer the world has seen. The adaptor's hand seems fairly inspired.

"Never even at a premiere of a Charlie Chaplin picture have I seen a house more rocked with laughter than at 'The Yankee.'

"As for the cast, that, too, seems to have been chosen with inspiration. Harry Myers is the slangy, capable, resourceful, yet chivalrous Yankee to perfection. No more appealing and soul-satisfying Sandy could have been found than Pauline Starke. William V. Mong does a superlative bit of character work as Merlin. George Siegmann is even more cleverly villainous than usual as Sir Sagamore. Charles Gordon is picture perfect and ideal as Clarence the page. Charles Clay is impressive as King Arthur. Rosemary Theby is the hard-hearted but alluring queen to the life; and the minor parts are equally well done."

Los Angeles Express:

"Retaining all the satire and subtle humor that made Mark Twain the prince of American humorists, augmented by down-to-the-minute American slang in the subtitles, embellished by sets so sumptuous as to be almost bewildering, and we have William Fox's pictorial conception of Mark Twain's famous satire on royalty and aristocracy, 'A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court.' 'You will revel in the medieval atmosphere and you will stare open-eyed at the gigantic sets. But above all and through it all, no matter what the situation nor how thrilling the episodes, nor how murderous the wicked queen, nor how supercilious the pampered king, the Yankee humor of Mark Twain breaks through the maze of color and ancient custom like the happy sunshine of modern American life.

"Every man and woman with American blood in his or her veins will enjoy this Fox picture. It was made especially for Yankee consumption."

Florence Lawrence, reviewer for the Los Angeles Examiner:

"A spectacle in which dignity, monstrous edifices and gorgeous panoply vie with a constant running comedy to keep the audience in high spirits; while the action, costumes and settings, with their unique combination of feudal customs and 1920 achievements, unite to make the ensemble one of clean, wholesome joy, unmarred by problems and illumined throughout by the master wit of the great American humorist, Mark Twain."

Los Angeles Record:

"Sitting enthroned among the gods of laughter, Mark Twain must have heard the swelling thunder of the roaring humans at Miller's theatre last night. 'A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court' triumphed across the screen—a kaleidoscopic monument of rich humor, keen satire, breath-taking adventure and touches of rare emotion."

"The Connecticut Yankee" is being presented at the Lyceum today and Tuesday, matinee and night.

'New' Bosworth Seen in Latest Read Production

Of course the public knows of Hobart Bosworth primarily as "The Sea Wolf"—a "Jack London man" of the seas, the rockbound coasts and fierce conquests.

Theatregoers of retentive memory may remember, too, the Hobart Bosworth who was the matinee idol of Broadway several years back; the Hobart Bosworth who played Shakespearean heroes with wavy locks and doublet and hose.

But a different view of Hobart Bosworth than either of the foregoing is to be afforded at the New Park theatre tonight and tomorrow. For in "A Thousand To One," the star's first vehicle for Associated Producers and produced by J. Parker Read, Jr., a supreme picture of Hobart Bosworth as a versatile artist is offered.

Hobart Bosworth has been a popular favorite on stage and screen for many years. He was one of the motion picture pioneers—one of the very first of the brilliant coterie of men who wrote, directed, acted in and distributed their own productions.

Katherine MacDonald in Thriller of South Seas

"The Infidel" is the name of Katherine MacDonald's newest play. It is by Charles Logue, and is a story of the South Seas. Miss MacDonald has the role of a young woman whose experiences have embittered her against all ministers and missionaries and when she is shipwrecked and subsequently rescued by the natives of a small island in the Southern Pacific and finds peace and comfort and spiritual happiness in her association with an aged missionary, all her infidelistic beliefs are swept away. She finds a new love that she had never dared dream of. The story abounds in melodramatic thrills and novel situations, while the locale affords unique opportunities for picturesque and beautiful photography. "The Infidel" will be seen for the first time in this city at the New Park theatre, commencing Wednesday.

Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association

Wednesday and Thursday of this week fishing and lake scenes from films being circulated by the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota association will be shown at the Lyceum theatre, in addition to their regular Paramount picture.

The activities of the Ten Thousand Lakes association are increasing continually. Organized in December, 1917, by nine progressive Minnesotans, of whom R. R. Wise of this city was one, this association undertook to tell the world of the recreational advantages of the lake regions of the great state of Minnesota, believing that if thoroughly advertised and the truth known by the public, the tourist business of the state would be increased, and catering to the visitors would become one of its great industries.

Financed entirely by private subscriptions, their efforts have produced decided results. To date more than 20,000 inquiries from prospective travelers in Minnesota have been received and answered by the secretary of the association, and the number of people who have been attracted directly and indirectly, through their efforts, to visit Minnesota, many of them to make their homes among us, is estimated at a much larger figure; while the money spent within our borders can only be roughly arrived at, but is well up in the millions of dollars.

It is suggested by the association that the citizens of Brainerd see the films while the seeing is good, at the Lyceum, Wednesday and Thursday.

DANCES TO ENTICE HIS MATE

In the Spider World the Male of the Species Must Be a Master of "Jazz."

There is a certain little spider, we are told by G. G. Clark in his "Tiny Toppers and Their Work," who has to exhibit his proficiency as a master of jazz in order to charm the creature with whom he would mate. If he is a bad dancer he goes unmated. He is called the zebra spider because of white stripes that run along his black abdomen.

In setting forth upon a matrimonial quest the zebra spider does not anoint himself with the special perfume which some insects use in like circumstances, nor does he, as the cricket is supposed to do, rely upon his ability as a maker of music; he simply appears before the object of his desire and begins to dance—first a jazz and then a waltz, alternating them; it would seem, with the idea that one or the other must captivate Miss Spider, who sits and watches him critically with all her eight eyes.

She frequently, it is said, is hard to please, and a male zebra has been known to repeat his jazz and waltz as many as 111 times for the entertainment of an obdurate insect with which it would mate. However, few "courtships" are as long as this, the wooed one usually making up her mind after a few minutes of his dancing. If her decision be favorable, she soon joins the supplicant in a mad whirling waltz. If, on the other hand, she is not charmed, she either turns away in contempt, or savagely rushes upon him with intent to murder.

INCIDENT POINTS A MORAL

Happening of the Middle Ages Which Should Give Food for Thought Today.

Because they chatter a great deal, the people of ancient days said that magpies were women changed into birds. That was not a very gallant thing to say, but magpies do not live in Canada, and there could have been no reflection on our ladies. They are pretty white and black birds, shaped like a crow, and about half as big.

They are fond of pretty things, and sometimes pick up articles they fancy to beautify their homes. In Florence, Italy, there is a lofty monument on top of which stands, or did stand, a statue of Justice with a pair of scales in her hand. Once the Duke Cosmo I lost a pearl necklace which an unfortunate little girl was accused of stealing. They put her to torture and racked her poor little limbs almost to pieces, until, unable to bear the pain, she said she would plead guilty to anything. Then she was hanged. That day a terrible storm visited Florence. The lightning struck the scales in the monument and down fell a magpie's nest with the pearls in it! If you ever visit Italy, be sure you look for Stazzi monument, with its broken scales, and remember it is very wise to be "slow to judge."—Montreal Family Herald.

Depleting Gasoline Reserves

"It is a matter of common knowledge that this year will see a revival of (gasoline) consumption which will tax the physical reserves of the oil industry to the utmost," says Petroleum Age in its issue of April 15, 1922.

Present conditions indicate that the prediction of April 15 will be fulfilled. The estimated increase of automobile registrations in the states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for 1922 will approximate 500,000, making a total probable registration of 3,850,000 cars.

Reports show that during the spring of 1922 large stocks of gasoline were accumulated, due to two principal factors, both transitory; first, the sensational production of the Mexia and Haynesville fields, a production which, however, has already fallen below half its peak and is diminishing rapidly; and second, the heavy and prolonged rains which made touring almost impossible.

These reserves of gasoline have served to keep the market steady. Nevertheless, the vast increase in the number of automotive vehicles and the extraordinary average mileage per car are depleting the reserve stocks rapidly.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), following its established practice of anticipating the needs of the people in the territory it serves, has increased its facilities to an extent which enables it to guarantee that it will be in position to supply its patrons wherever they may be located.

The entire organization, realizing that it is dealing in a commodity essential to the happiness and well-being of all the people is bending every effort to keep the supply ahead of demand, that the obligation of the Company to the consuming public may be discharged completely.

Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota Association

Wednesday and Thursday of this week fishing and lake scenes from films being circulated by the Ten Thousand Lakes of Minnesota association will be shown at the Lyceum theatre, in addition to their regular Paramount picture.

The activities of the Ten Thousand Lakes association are increasing continually. Organized in December, 1917, by nine progressive Minnesotans, of whom R. R. Wise of this city was one, this association undertook to tell the world of the recreational advantages of the lake regions of the great state of Minnesota, believing that if thoroughly advertised and the truth known by the public, the tourist business of the state would be increased, and catering to the visitors would become one of its great industries.

Financed entirely by private subscriptions, their efforts have produced decided results. To date more than 20,000 inquiries from prospective travelers in Minnesota have been received and answered by the secretary of the association, and the number of people who have been attracted directly and indirectly, through their efforts, to visit Minnesota, many of them to make their homes among us, is estimated at a much larger figure; while the money spent within our borders can only be roughly arrived at, but is well up in the millions of dollars.

It is suggested by the association that the citizens of Brainerd see the films while the seeing is good, at the Lyceum, Wednesday and Thursday.

Jersey City is supporting its ball club better than it has done for years.

Just possibly why women never took to baseball: "Hit it a mile, old girl!"

Champion timber on a ball team is all right, but you've got to hit something with it.

A string of home runs seems to make quite a difference in the news value of a ball player.

Joe Wood's hitting for the Indians makes it appear that Joe still retains considerable "smoke."

The prophet that said the Giants were dangerous may well congratulate himself on his insight.

Frank Woodward is still the bear pitcher in the Eastern league, even if he can't make the major grade.

From the Senators' wobbly showing in the opening games it looks as if Nick Altrock was slowing up.

DANCES TO ENTICE HIS MATE

In the Spider World the Male of the Species Must Be a Master of "Jazz."

There is a certain little spider, we are told by G. G. Clark in his "Tiny Tollers and Their Work," who has to exhibit his proficiency as a master of jazz in order to charm the creature with whom he would mate. If he is a bad dancer he goes unmated. He is called the zebra spider because of white stripes that run along his black abdomen.

In setting forth upon a matrimonial quest the zebra spider does not anoint himself with the special perfume which some insects use in like circumstances, nor does he, as the cricket is supposed to do, rely upon his ability as a maker of music; he simply appears before the object of his desire and begins to dance—first a jazz and then a waltz, alternating them. It would seem, with the idea that one or the other must captivate Miss Spider, who sits and watches him critically with all her eight eyes.

She frequently, it is said, is hard to please, and a male zebra has been known to repeat his jazz and waltz as many as 111 times for the entertainment of an obdurate insect with which it would mate. However, few "courtships" are as long as this, the wood one usually making up her mind after a few minutes of his dancing. If her decision be favorable, she soon joins the suppliant in a mad whirling waltz. If, on the other hand, she is not charmed, she either turns away in contempt, or savagely rushes upon him with intent to murder.

INCIDENT POINTS A MORAL

Because they chatter a great deal, the people of ancient days said that magpies were women changed into birds. That was not a very gallant thing to say, but magpies do not live in Canada, and there could have been no reflection on our ladies. They are pretty white and black birds, shaped like a crow, and about half as big.

They are fond of pretty things, and sometimes pick up articles they fancy to beautify their homes. In Florence, Italy, there is a lofty monument on top of which stands, or did stand, a statue of Justice with a pair of scales in her hand. Once the Duke Cosmo I lost a pearl necklace which an unfortunate little girl was accused of stealing. They put her to torture and racked her poor little limbs almost to pieces, until, unable to bear the pain, she said she would plead guilty to anything. Then she was hanged. That day a terrible storm visited Florence. The lightning struck the scales in the monument and down fell a magpie's nest with the pearls in it! If you ever visit Italy, be sure you look for Stazzoni monument, with its broken scales, and remember it is very wise to be "slow to judge."—Montreal Family Herald.

Depleting Gasoline Reserves

"It is a matter of common knowledge that this year will see a revival of (gasoline) consumption which will tax the physical reserves of the oil industry to the utmost," says Petroleum Age in its issue of April 15, 1922.

Present conditions indicate that the prediction of April 15 will be fulfilled. The estimated increase of automobile registrations in the states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for 1922 will approximate 500,000, making a total probable registration of 3,850,000 cars.

Reports show that during the spring of 1922 large stocks of gasoline were accumulated, due to two principal factors, both transitory; first, the sensational production of the Mexia and Haynesville fields, a production which, however, has already fallen below half its peak and is diminishing rapidly; and second, the heavy and prolonged rains which made touring almost impossible.

These reserves of gasoline have served to keep the market steady. Nevertheless, the vast increase in the number of automotive vehicles and the extraordinary average mileage per car are depleting the reserve stocks rapidly.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), following its established practice of anticipating the needs of the people in the territory it serves, has increased its facilities to an extent which enables it to guarantee that it will be in position to supply its patrons wherever they may be located.

The entire organization, realizing that it is dealing in a commodity essential to the happiness and well-being of all the people is bending every effort to keep the supply ahead of demand, that the obligation of the Company to the consuming public may be discharged completely.
